dedicating . . .

...to Mr. Otto Spielman the 1959 issue of the Capitalian, we wish to recognize his great interest in Capital University. This interest has been shown by his generous support of the University's development program and by serving as a member of the Board of Regents for many years. Active participation in his own congregation's worship and church work continue to occupy still another portion of his time. His leadership and great interest in the field of Christian higher education are reflected in his interest in Capital University. Mr. Spielman was, for many years, a member of the Investment Committee of the American Lutheran Church. In addition to all his many years of service to his community, church, and school, he also served as president of the board for the Ranco company for some time. As a man who has always been interested in the future and all it holds, he has done his best to shape that future to give the greatest benefit to his fellow man. He has always been ready to extend help in whatever direction it has been needed. Looking forward, we see many more years of dedicated service. We salute you, Mr. Spielman, a business leader, a dedicated Christian, a loyal Lutheran, and a good friend of Cap!

Mr. Otto M. Spielman

Watching over the progress of improvement of each student is the challenge given to the faculty and administration. As the blueprint for education is laid, the finishing touch is added by these technicians who correct errors in judgment as defects are detected. The complicated process leading to a successful orbit can only be accomplished by skilled and interested technicians.

the space age—

we're in it — and we're of it — whether we like it or not.

It thrills us, it frightens us, it challenges us. What shall we do with all the amazing opportunities it offers us? How shall we harness the stupendous sources of power, how utilize the new tools placed in our hands, so that mankind may benefit to the utmost?

Youth has the courage to face the future with high hope and sober intent that the forces of the natural world shall be used constructively. Youth recognized the need of developing spiritual and moral resources to match natural and physical resources.

There lies the responsibility of Christian higher education, and students know this as well as teachers. Hence you will note that this issue of the Capitalian evaluates education at Capital University in terms of the Space Age. There is a new sense of urgency in the cooperative process which we call education. There is a sane sense of balance.

We compliment those whose talent and toil produced this issue of our Capital yearbook, and we commend it to your thoughtful persual. Along with the fascinating story of the 1958-59 school year, it provides a glimpse of what it means to all of us to be in The Space Age.

Mr. Laurence J. Schaaf, dean and counselor of students.

Dr. Alfred M. Wagner departed from this life very suddenly on December 8, 1958. At the time, he was serving as pastor of Faith Lutheran Church, Whitehall. He had served Capital University as a member of the Board of Regents for twenty-eight years. For twelve of those years, he had served as secretary to the Board. Serving his church and his Lord, he had been active in the pastoral ministry since his graduation from "Cap" as a member of the class of 1906. "Cap's" sports fans vividly remember Dr. Wagner's enthusiasm in support of the "Fighting Lutherans." We thank God for his faithful service and express our sincerest sympathy to his loved ones.

Dr. Alfred M. Wagner

Dr. Harold C. Osterman passed from this life on December 9, 1958, following a heart attack. Dr. Osterman had returned to Capital on November 1, 1958, in the capacity of Director of Aids and Grants. He also held various posts in the American Lutheran Church including Assistant Director of Stewardship and Finance and president of the Eastern District. Besides his most recent appointment, Dr. Osterman had served "Cap" as Director of Development. We thank God for his willingness to serve and express our sincerest sympathy to his family.

Dr. Harold C. Osterman

Every idea must be proven beyond the written page to test its strengths and weaknesses. Likewise, a vehicle destined to become a part of the space age must be given every test available on the proving ground. Within these walls, only the more competent are allowed to proceed to the blast-off.

assembling . . .

...a full year's events into a single volume confronts the CAPITALIAN staff as it strives to evaluate each event and organization on the campus to accurately preserve them for you in this printed volume. By integrating the campus into the space age, each event was soon placed in its proper perspective.

Getting off the ground, the dummy promised that the Capitalian would reach new heights of achievement. But even a dummy has mechanical failures. Ironing out these mechanical difficulties required even more advanced designs making the dummy appear quite outmoded. Overcoming technical intricacies beyond our control left the staff rather helpless. As the countdown to the deadline date — zero hour — descended rapidly, all technicians put into action the skills they had acquired. The year, being assembled in this fashion, is now presented to you!

Looking into the future, we see you re-living our entry into the space age by reviewing 1959 at Capital University.

...creativity is the SPECTATOR'S goal as the art and literary magazine of Capital University. Enthusiasm runs high as the news spreads rapidly that the Spectator is out. Textbooks are laid aside to gather dust while more interesting literature is sought. Aspiring artists and authors have the opportunity to see their works published in this magazine. Literary contributions including poetry, short stories, and essays greet the reader. Oil paintings, water colors, sketches, and ceramics are also presented for your enjoyment and evaluation. Reaching new horizons, the Spectator was published in two editions for the first time this year — one each semester; it is hoped that the double treat will continue. Only by furnishing such occasions to exhibit these budding talents can hope for the aesthetic welfare of mankind be assured in this age of the atom and scientific achievements.

. . . has been the keyword for this year's CHIMES staff. Not to be out-done by "moonbent" scientists, these hardy journalists set out to do what many thought impossible. Their goal was not the moon (although financially it may have seemed so) but a weekly issue of the Chimes — a first in thirty-three years of publication.

Consequently, each Monday brought copy deadlines and even the most casual Wednesday evening observer will acknowledge that the staff was once again striving to fill in those unwanted holes. Friday, after the distribution of their precious cargo, was a time for the staff to catch a quick breath—and begin another week.

Progress through experimentation has brought achievements compensating for the long tedious hours of work. The Chimes now launches into a brighter future with higher standards of journalism and more recent news to match the brisk pace of the campus.

governing . . .

...by CAMPUS COUNCIL involves a wide scope of student problems ranging from social orientation to May Day elections. Early in the year Campus Council sponsored a leadership conference at Mt. Gilead Bible Camp. Meeting in informal discussion groups, the students considered the question "Does Cap need a facelifting?" and formulated answers that recommended improvements. Council carefully considered these recommendations when possible and referring matters outside student control to proper authorities.

Included in the years activities have been; the drafting of a resolution to the Board of Regents for more adequate housing, conducting a second successful creative arts program, collecting Campus Chest funds, drafting of proposed constitutional revisions to result in reorganization of student government, establishing additional hours and limited stack privileges at the library, drafting a resolution permitting smoking privileges in all fire resistant buildings without discrimination as to sex, and proposing plans for the freshman social orientation program.

Prodding the campus to prevent it from becoming stale by lagging behind the times, Campus Council attempts to set the pace as new strides are made in student government.

planning . . .

...a time and place for every organizational meeting and activity can be a very frustrating problem. The SOCIAL POLICY COMMITTEE, however keeps dates and times in order as it sets up the yearly campus social calendar. In order to be insured of a meeting place, this all-important group must be consulted before definite plans are made for any campus activity. Coordinating various activities of student interest insures that the campus may be a successful proving ground for mature Christian leaders.

...$39,060 may not sound like such a difficult job, but when the money comes from the activity fee of each student and is to be divided among the twenty-one recognized organizations and activities on campus, it can be quite a headache. The BOARD OF COLLEGE ACTIVITIES has the job of doling out and sometimes stretching these allotments. "BCA" is the assurance that each student's money is put to the best possible use.

...policy which governs the student union is a tremendous job for it touches the life of almost every student. The STUDENT UNION GOVERNING BOARD is to be commended for prompting the remodeling which rendered the union almost unrecognizable to returning students in September. A bill of almost $5000 was assumed by the university as new drapes, paint, and light blond furniture glamorized this favorite meeting place. The snack bar was complete with booths, divider, and plants and by the end of this year special racks had replaced steps and bookshelves as the proper parking place for umbrellas.

...a constitution and gaining recognition for the first OFF-CAMPUS WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION were important steps bridging the gap between resident and local women students. Money from two successful bake sales in the Student Union made possible improvements in the Town Girls' Lounge in Saylor basement. However, the greatest thrill was experienced at Christmastime when soap, water and plenty of elbow grease and ingenuity were expended to renovate "Toys for Tots" dolls for many little girls' stockings. Meeting the challenge of effective organization, OCWA embodies the contribution of local women students.

Ja Ann Recob, secretary; Marietta Morgan, treasurer; Nancy Holloway, president.

Nancy Hottenrath, president; Daris Kopfman, vice-president; Marcia Rasley, treasurer; Judy Caleman, secretary.

... policies for resident women is the enormous task of WOMEN'S RESIDENCE COUNCIL. At the present time it represents all women students who live in university housing or private homes. Ultimately, one of the major goals is forming an organization whereby all women students, including town girls, will be represented.

WRC seeks to develop within every woman student a feeling of responsibility for her own actions and a mature attitude toward her position as an educated Christian woman. Now ten years old, the council has grown each year — taking upon itself more and more responsibility in areas of legislation, enforcement, and disciplinary action.

As of April, 1959, WRC became an official member of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students. IAWS consists of governing groups throughout the United States joined together to exchange ideas, to create a sense of unity among women students throughout the country and to encourage a sense of responsibility in the college-trained woman to her community and the world.

promoting . . .

...interest in world affairs in order to encourage informed citizenship is carried out quite efficiently and effectively by the INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB. In a world tensed by conflicting ideals and insecure with the unrest growing in places such as Central America and Berlin, it is imperative that each future and present voting citizen be alert and informed.

To first promote intra-group unity a picnic was held at Grace Lutheran Country Club near Gahanna. Cementing inter-American relations was of next importance as the group "traveled" with Dr. Grimm via movies in an effort to better understand our Mexican neighbors. Homeward, southward, and then skyward by courtesy of the debate teams from Otterbein and Capital as the many pros and cons of banning the further development of nuclear weapons were presented. Miss Justina Eich was welcomed back to share her travels giving members a glimpse of the Far East. Major Lawrence Young of the Air Science Department spoke of SEATO's part in world affairs today. One of the most enjoyable "trips" made by the group was with Dr. Theodore Fricke, executive secretary of foreign missions of the American Lutheran Church, to view pictures of missions in Africa. With jet travel, the world is getting smaller, making it even more important that Americans understand their neighbors of the world.

Larry Backelman, president;
Mr. William Darcy, advisor;
Dick Knaus, treasurer.

understanding .

...our governmental system, current governmental problems and good citizenship is the goal of the POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB. Outstanding on this year's calendar was the "right-to-work" debate between affirmative speaker, Mr. John Mahaney of the Right-to-Work Campaign Committee and negative speaker, Dr. Anthony Nemetz of Ohio State University, a member of the Citizens' Committee to Defeat Issue Number Two. Scrutinizing a straw poll conducted on the issue on election day revealed that Capital students favored right-to-work by an over-whelming majority. Migrating to Dr. Martin's farm, the club and its guests feasted and fested around a giant campfire. Ascending to new heights of enthusiasm, the Political Science Club strives to point you toward active intelligent participation in politics in this rather confusing age.

...interest and mounting enthusiasm, Capital University students formed the YOUNG REPUBLICAN'S CLUB to perpetuate just such feelings for the Grand Old Party. Education has come in the form of actually hearing party leaders. For most members, the biggest thrill of the year was experienced when the club took part in the Ohio State Republican Convention held in downtown Columbus at the RKO Palace Theatre. Meeting and hearing such party notables as Vice President Nixon, Senator Bricker, and Governor O'Neil inspired new heights of enthusiasm for the GOP.

Election month found many members serving the community by urging voters to go to the polls.

Experience and education sum up the way in which this organization fostered interest in the Republican Party.

Bob "Spike" Reynolds, president; Jerry Folk, secretary; Mike DeLong, treasurer; Jim Forn, vice president.

...one's fellowmen can soon become a full-time and very rewarding occupation. CIRCLE K is an unique organization dedicated to the labors of Christian service costing more in time than in money. It gives members a vision of adult and eternal life. Ward Potts, the Ohio District Governor, reached the preceding conclusion in answer to the topic "What Circle K Really Is."

At the beginning of the year a "Prospectus" listing future events was given to the members. Pointing Science Hall, sponsoring boys from the Juvenile Diagnostic Center at the Capital-Muskingum football game, and helping Charity Newsies were typical activities the men participated in during the year. With the Capital Education Association, they co-sponsored Dr. B. B. Caplan, a local doctor, who spoke to the campus about life in Russia.

The men of Circle K and their dates enjoyed a delicious steak dinner in the refectory with their guests from Eastern Kiwanis for their last meeting of the year. Mr. Paul Westlake, Republican nominee for mayor of Columbus, was guest speaker with installation ceremonies for next year's officers.

Through assistance of this type, service will not grow old-fashioned as the world speeds on to its destiny.

Marian Nicklos, secretary; Ed Gluck, president; Max Ziegler, treasurer; Vern Boehler, vice president.

...social and professional interests of students enrolled in business courses is the nature of the vital principle guiding the COMMERCE CLUB. Each year, a field trip is taken to observe business and industry in action. This year, the club traveled to Dayton, for a tour of the Frigidaire and National Cash Register plants.

Regular meetings brought information regarding job opportunities and training programs from representatives of various businesses in Greater Columbus. Lazarus, Morehouse-Fashion, Western Electric, Ohio Bell and Borden's representatives each took part in presenting today's world of commerce.

...scholarship in the study of business and encouraging the practice of the highest ethical canons are only two of the guiding ideals of TAU PI PHI. This was an all-important year for Tau Pi Phi as the first national meeting of the body corporate met in historical Marietta, Ohio, on May 9 to set in motion the code of regulations which would govern this national fraternity. Tau Pi Phi fosters not only the social nature of business but also the continuation of research projects and special investigations of state and federal legislation affecting commerce and industry.

...the mysteries of the universe keeps the LEONARD SCIENCE CLUB astir as it strives to further the aims of science and offers opportunities to non-science majors to develop their scientific interests.

Members especially enjoyed Dr. Chastain of Battelle Memorial Institute whose presentation of nuclear physics was unusually inspiring. This spring the Science department was host for the annual Ohio Academy of Science meeting, offering extra opportunities for club members to serve.

Looking into realities of the morrow, these scientists prepare themselves to meet the challenge of this space age.

Revealing some of the intricacies of biology, John Humphries and Glenn Eippert show their research to eager high school visitors.

Dr. Dwight Dean, advisor; Peter Lyberg, vice president; Helen Krahn, president; Charlotte Grava, publicity chairman.

...to interpret contemporary problems sociologically provides the working foundation for the SOCIOLOGY CLUB. One of the outstanding programs this year was a talk by Pastor Robert Graetz of St. Phillips Lutheran Church concerning his part in the Montgomery, Alabama, bus boycott and its implications on integration. Mr. Gene Pablo and Mr. Phil Wahl returned to give interesting views on the daily problems involved in their work. Both are alumni of Capital.

...spirits and scores marked the highlights of Capital's STUDENT NURSES' ASSOCIATION this year. The "Caps," as they are nicknamed, had an undefeated season of basketball winning the state championship in Cleveland.

As active members of the Columbus, the Ohio, and the National Student Nurses' Associations delegates were sent to the November State convention in Cleveland, and the May National Convention in Philadelphia. Keeping abreast of the rapid developments occurring within their profession, the nurses prepare themselves to overcome the challenges of superstition in this fast-moving world.

Shoron Spencer looks on as Miss Chamberlain bestows that all-important pin upon Louise Shives.

Nancy Londdeck does her best to obtain the ball for the "Caps" in one of the final games of the state tournament.

...informally, meetings of the FRENCH CLUB sound like meetings of the French cabinet—conducted completely en français. Vicariously, members were transported to French-Canada via slides and a stimulating discussion by Madame Lisko. Another trip, this time to Viet-Nam, was conducted by an exchange student. Christmastime brought the gaiety of a party complete with *crepe suzette*s. The first mi-carene or "mid-lent" masquerade party transformed Troutman Clubroom into a world of red and white merriment. This lively event, is celebrated annually by the French halfway through the Lenten season. Closing the year, a banquet prepared by the French chef at the Neil House made a fitting climax.

"Comprenez-vous la français?"

Louise Freitag, secretary; Tom Oesterling, treasurer; Elise Freitag, president.

conversing . . .

...in Spanish, the SPANISH CLUB does much to enlighten its members concerning the culture of our Latin American neighbors under the able guidance of Dr. Chris Nacci.

Crowning a year of enjoyable Sponish fellowship was the Pinata Party held at Christmas time. Frequent visits were made to the Casa Jose, a small Mexican restaurant in downtown Columbus, allowing members to delight in the Latin atmosphere. "Buen día señores y señoritas. Como estan ustedes?"

George Neumeister, treasurer; Sherry Fisher, secretary; David Dill, president; Clyde Kretzinger, vice president.

Jean Rodgers, secretary-treasurer; Edna Scott, president.

concentrating . . .

...upon the promotion of organ music brought about the creation of a new organization on the campus. Membership in the AMERICAN GUILD OF ORGANISTS is open to all students interested specializing . . .

...in music education has its own problems and rewards which are of utmost importance to the members of the CAPITAL MUSIC EDUCATION ASSOCIATION. Affiliated with the Music Educators' National Conference, this student chapter prepares itself for professional experience.

The processes involved in a "Coordinated Music Program" was the theme of a discussion by a panel of Bexley teachers given before CMEA. Food for thought was also provided by a group of Lancaster teachers who discussed "Student Teaching." Seniors were able to provide some very helpful information on this topic by some of their own experiences.

Approval of the student chapter constitution by the National Convention was a fitting finale since the Capital chapter had been influential in the formulation of this constitution.

By preparing students for their roles in the profession, CMEA kindles the spark that sends its members off to new altitudes of accomplishment.

in the advancement of organ music.

Assisted by Miss Marjorie Jackson at the organ, Cantor Schrier of Tifereth Israel Temple presented an unusual lecture-demonstration of Jewish music. Further exploration of such little known areas of music is an accurate forecast of the future.

Harold Schneck, president; LoDonna Sumner, secretary; Janet Rupp, vice president; Elaine Fox, corresponding secretary; Mr. William S. Bailey, advisor; Miss Marjorie Jackson, advisor; Margaret Loutenbach, treasurer.

Edna Scott, vice president; Sylvia Meyer, president; Judy Ansel, secretary.

Gary Boucher, treasurer; Dave Finkam, historian; Jack McQuate, president.

...the annual operetta was the highlight of the year for both PHI MU ALPHA and PHI BETA. These two organizations are the honorary professional fraternities of music and speech. Song of Norway, one of the largest productions ever undertaken with a budget of over $2,000, was based on the life of Edward Grieg. A captivated audience relived Grieg's life inevitably complicated by love. Once again the tempestuous opera singer, Louisa, almost won his love from Nina, his sweetheart, and his beloved Norway, as his poet friend watched. Accompanied by the symphony orchestra, the production had its first performance in Lancaster, Ohio, followed by two presentations on campus.

In addition to the operetta, Phi Beta had a busy year. After a rush party, additions, and pledging, nine new members were initiated. During October they enjoyed a weiner roast with Phi Mu Alpha. The candied apples sold on campus were a special treat the members planned. Faculty wives, women of the faculty, and alumni of Phi Beta were honored at a February tea. Early in May the Senior farewell banquet marked "finis" to another year.

Meanwhile, the men of the Epsilon Phi Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia had been far from idle. In the fall the proceeds from their annual Pizzeria were used for the two annual music scholarships. The hardy chapter caroled the campus for two hours during December in five-below-zero weather. A new group of over thirty of the top male voices on campus joined to form the "Sinfonian Men" glee club during the spring. The perfect finishing touch was added when Mr. A. D. Lekvold, province governor and faculty member of Miami University, announced at the second consecutive year, he intended to select Epsilon Phi Chapter for the annual province award.

. . . its purposes to the demands and needs of its members while promoting the ideals of Capital University among women students in a fourfold program of social development, scholastic achievement, leadership, and service, is the task of KAPPA SIGMA THETA. Providing a variety of experiences in each of its programs, leaders of the community are utilized to give each girl the greatest opportunity to reach new heights of achievement.

Diligent study and research brought about a drastic revision in the policies of KST. A program of competitive rushing for freshmen has been adopted to give each chapter a greater feeling of unity. As one gazes into the crystal ball, a cloud obscures the distant future for KST, but for its members, a rainbow of promise reminds them that the year 1959 marked a great step forward.

"Getting to Know You" emphasized the importance of learning to know co-workers within the DELTA chapter. Officers examining the results of the year's program are: Marietta Morgan, board representative; Sharon Morris, co-big-little sister chairman; Beverly Magley, secretary; Jeanette Lindenbaum, co-big-little sister chairman; Mrs. Lowell Knauf, advisor; Doris Wigal, vice president; Mrs. Gene Fogt, advisor; and Linnie Leckrone, president.

"The ALPHA Woman Tomorrow" was often reminded of the appropriate verse, "Remember this that in the summing, you are now what you are becoming." Looking back over a year marked by many strides forward are: Esther Hansen, secretary; Mary Kortier, vice president; Gay Asplund, president; and Joyce Block, treasurer.

"Charm" was the star on which ZETA hitched its programs, allowing each member to rise personality-wise. Discussing the more important programs are: Carolyn Kauper, secretary; Kay Thompson, big-little sister chairman; Marian Nicklas, treasurer; Judy Coleman, president; Marilyn Lange, vice president; and Mrs. Armin Langholz, advisor.

Three trophies rewarded BETA'S efforts for Homecoming decorations, the Prep Follies, and the sorority sing at Mothers' Week-end. Happy over their good fortune are: Louise Freitag, treasurer; Norma Wood, vice president; Linda Streett, president; Paula Reuss, co-big-little sister chairman; and Sharene Schmalz, secretary.

Relaxing after a year stressing self-improvement are the officers of PHI OMEGA: Faith Yochum, big-little sister chairman; Marilyn Laukhuf, president; and Mrs. Jack Landrum, advisor.

Service to others and to self provide an active program for GAMMA. Reliving some of their experiences are: Linda Matheny, big-little sister chairman; Ingrid Brunkhorst, board representative; Diane Hamilton, treasurer; Mrs. Harold Regan, advisor; Mary Ann Förry, secretary; Judy Zimmer, vice president, and Nina Grevesmühl, president.

"This is your life—EPSILON" proved to be one of the most interesting programs of the year as seniors reminisced about their years in the chapter. Recalling other highlights of the year are: Norma Puehler, treasurer; Emily Estep, vice president; Priscilla Leedy, big-little sister chairman; Carol Damm, president; and Joyce Foose, secretary.

Crawling through cobwebs and dirt, Daisy Maes and Li'l Abners reached Dogpatch. It was the scene of a big hoe-down as KST celebrated Sadie Hawkins Day. Phi Omega and Alpha had created Dogpatch — complete with a pig pen, a still, and even an outhouse. Marryin' Sam (Dave Winter) tied the knot as each couple entered this happy domain. Climaxing the festivity, Mary Kortier (Alpha) was selected Daisy Mae and Thornton Lauriat (Phi Mu Alpha) was chosen Li'l Abner. Aided by the kick-apoo-joy-juice and sugar cookies, everyone enjoyed their visit to Dogpatch.

KST SWEETHEART — Joyce Block.

SADIE HAWKINS DAY ROYALTY — Mary Kortier and Thornton Lauriat.

Floating through a dreamland filled with "Hearts in Harmony," KST members and their dates danced to the music of Johnny Patterson's band at their annual Sweetheart Formal. Delta and Beta brought hearts into harmony by transforming the Youth Center at the Ohio State Fairgrounds into a fantasyland of hearts and flowers. In the midst of sparkling notes and shimmering lights, Joyce Block was chosen KST sweetheart of the year.

. . . the men on campus into a meaningful whole is the purpose of KAPPA SIGMA UPSILON, the only social fraternity on campus. Following a full semester of pledgeship, any male student is eligible for membership.

The social calendar of the compus is highlighted by the annual Winter Wonderland, sponsored by KSU. Dinner dances, smokers, and a picnic provide ample opportunity for the socialization of KSU's men.

Service projects also warrant the attention of this group. Perhaps one of their biggest boons has been the work of "help week."

Preparing themselves to meet the demands of society, they take a look into the future.

...and gruelling practice precedes every production MASQUERS sponsors. Anyone on campus has the opportunity to compete in the try-outs. Under the direction of Miss Allene Montgomery each part is integrated into a smoothly functioning unit.

Excitement ran high as the news spread that Teahouse of the August Moon by John Patrick would "stop" at Capital over Homecoming. As the big night finally arrived, viewers were amused and enchanted as they were transported via jeep and round-a-bout with many passengers, including a balky goat, to a small Okinawan village. Before their eyes a beautiful Chya (teahouse) appeared and disappeared. (pictures on page 83)

An entire change of pace was brought about in the Potting Shed by Graham Greene during Lent. Suspense reached a dramatically emotional climax as an unwanted son returned at the time of his father's death to seek the cause of his estrangement. "What did happen in the potting shed?" seemed to be a question no one wanted to answer as gradually, painfully, the mystery was brought to light.

For May Day, Masquers presented The Rivals by Robert Sheridan. Much of the comedy of manners centered around the misuse of words (malapropism) as Mrs. Malaprop tried to accomplish the marriage of her unwilling niece to a wealthy young baronet. (pictures on page 85)

Supporting the organization of the present dramatic working forces is part of the existence of Pi Epsilon Delta, the sixty-first chapter of the National Collegiate Players. They encourage participation in dramatic performances, playwriting, and the study of drama in the available classes. Working closely with their advisor Miss Montgomery, they seek to carry on research in connection with theater problems and to extend to more students interest in drama.

Dramatics at Capital University is ever climbing to accomplishments of even greater magnitude as Masquers presents plays in the true spirit of the theatre.

. . . in one hundred twenty-six intercollegiate contests was no meager task for the DEBATE team. However, under the enthusiastic guidance of Dr. Thomas Ludlum, the team emerged with fifty-four wins, fifteen non-decisions, and fifty-seven losses, a vast improvement over the past few years.

Traveling throughout the area, the team journeyed to Ohio University, Ohio Wesleyan, Otterbein, and Bowling Green. Highlighting the season were the debates held at the University of Pittsburgh and Rutgers University. Meeting teams from Case Tech, Indiana State, the University of Illinois, Marietta, the University of the West Indies, and others, the team successfully encountered unusual approaches to the problem of the further development of nuclear weapons.

Novice debators showed promising talent during their tournament in Pittsburgh.

Striving to promote interest in debate activities is the goal of Tau Kappa Alpha. The honorary is open to anyone completing two years of forensic activity and ranking in the upper third of their class.

informing . . .

...and extending to any student on campus, registered in education or interested in the teaching profession the benefits of a local education association is the action of the CAPITAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION.

CEA also seeks to promote the moral, ethical, and professional growth of its members so that they will exemplify the qualities of the Great Teacher in their future responsibilities as educators. This includes both Christian character formation and professional development.

One of the most interesting programs of the year was a panel of Capital graduates in their first year of teaching who came back to tell their experiences in "The Transition from Student to Teacher." Ending the year, Mrs. Antoinette Barr, a Bexley high school English teacher, came to share her unusual experiences as an exchange teacher in Scotland, where subjects, not pupils, are the center of attention.

Gene Vetter, president Marilyn Avers, secretary.

...a more personal relationship with God plus closer co-operation among all Campus religious organizations added a new phase to the program of the STUDENT CONGREGATION.

Under the unifying guidance of the council, auxiliaries carried out God's work functioning on the pattern of a regular congregation for the first time. Christian Institutional Service directed the mission and service phase; Christian Student Fellowship and the Four R's managed the education; and the Parish Workers and Pre-Seminary Association jointly supervised the evangelism portion of the program.

Regular services of the congregation include the Christ Lutheran college Sunday School class, Sunday evening vespers, Tuesday and Thursday evening vespers in Divinity Hall Chapel, special Christmas and Ascension Day services, and regular communion services.

With the new congregational setup, religious activities have been streamlined to meet the increased demand arising from a larger enrollment. As future trends become evident, new and more modern means of providing Christian experience will be presented to "Cap's" campus.

hoping . . .

...to follow Christ's command "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mark 16:15) is the goal of the CHRISTIAN INSTITUTIONAL SERVICE, better known simply as CIS. Each Sunday morning, buses and cars are packed, carrying students to the Columbus State School for the Mentally Retarded, Orient State School, and the Juvenile Diagnostic Center. Another group visits Alum Crest Hospital each Thursday evening. To those whose home has become one of these institutions, they seek to bring guidance and hope by telling these less fortunate about their Savior. Reaching over a thousand children and adults yearly, these teachers bring their wonderful message of love.

Giving hope for the future to those who have very little hope, CIS renders a very worthy service to the community and their Lord.

...the all important fourth "r" into the already familiar three "r's" of reading, writing, and arithmetic, furnishes the FOUR R'S CLUB with both name and purpose. This fourth "r" — religion — marks the chief difference between a public school and a Christian day school.

Two members were accorded the privilege of traveling to Waverly, Iowa, during October to attend the Christian Day School Association Convention to learn more about that fourth "r" in education.

Dr. Raymond Vogeley, Director of Parish Education and advisor to the club, continued to underline the necessity for the fourth "r" in education as the world strives to utilize its scientific knowledge to the betterment of mankind and the glory of God.

integrating . . .

...God into the lives of others is important for every future parish worker. The PARISH WORKER'S CLUB was organized to help young women who are interested in full-time church work to better understand their responsibilities and privileges.

Bringing joy to residents of the Franklin County Home at Christmastime with carols, gave a preview of the type of projects that would be administered by parish workers in their lives of service to others. Establishing a Good News Club at St. Mark Lutheran Church, Columbus, Ohio, also gave some very practical experience in leading others to a closer relationship with God.

Judy Hellman, treasurer; Margie Thompson, secretary; Carole Sand, vice president; Peggy Hoover, president.

...to promote Christian fellowship among Capital students is the great challenge confronting the CHRISTIAN STUDENT FELLOWSHIP. Reorganization for more effectiveness has been this year's objective. Aid given to the new student congregation's program came in the formation of a collegiate Sunday School class at Christ Lutheran Church. Meetings had a flavor of education as evidenced by Mr. Homer Cotterman's talk sharing memories of church and yesterday and the panel entitled "Are Cap Students Moral?" Many students will also remember the campus Christmas party as the highlight of the year with its taffy-pull and the fellowship in praising God with Christmas carols.

...to serve God as a shepherd of His people marks the driving conviction of the PRESEMINARY ASSOCIATION. Full understanding of other religions took the group on a visit to a Jewish temple with the opportunity of speaking to the rabbi after the service. The structure of The American Lutheran Church became the topic of discussion as Dr. George Shultz spoke with these ministers of the future.

In leading others to God, constant attention must be given to the fact that as the world moves faster and man's technology becomes more complicated, it is even more necessary that God be remembered as the creator and sustainer of this vast universe.

... thousands to thrill to the glory of God, two beaded threads of light glided toward a common point as the voices of the CHAPEL CHOIR united to break forth in Soli Deo Gloria — glory to God alone. Nearly eight thousand persons were moved and awed as the Chapel Choir filled Veteran's Memorial Auditorium with songs of praise at this Christmas concert.

A little more than a month later the choir members were impatiently waiting for buses to reach the "island" on which raging waters had temporarily imprisoned Capital to transport them to the beckoning palm trees and sparkling waters of balmy Florida. Boarding the buses, Capital in its peril was soon forgotten as the choir traveled three thousand miles, sang about fourteen concerts, visited Cypress Gardens, and swam near Fort Lauderdale, collecting many oranges, coconuts, and priceless memories. For the first time the students, headed by Walt Huffman, handled all the details of their concerts and tours, enjoying the luxuries of new aluminum risers, robe boxes, and the finely equipped Chapel Choir office.

From the September picnic at Blacklick Woods with the anticipations and dreams for the coming year through the banquet at Willards with the reminiscing of past days, choir members were once again caught up in the contagious enthusiasm of "Papa" Snyder.

... under the leadership of Mr. Wilbur Crist and student director Thornton Lauriat, the MEN'S GLEE CLUB pleased both eye and ear. Full dress "tails" complete with accessories, including patent leather shoes, were purchased this year. However, the most popular aspect was still their fine singing. Audiences through-out northern Ohio and Michigan were thrilled as the group presented The Singers by Cesare Soders or were amused by the Ballad of the Hurry Up taken from Marc Blizstein's Air-bourne Symphony. Fred Waring's arrangement of the Battle Hymn of the Republic remained a favorite.

Representing the Glee Club in many local Columbus appearances and joining with the entire club at concert-time was the Varsity Quartet consisting of Frank Cleveland, Glenn Kappelmann, Thornton Lauriat, and Gene Barban. Mr. Barban also served as accompanist and piano soloist.

In addition to their ten day mid-year tour, the club took one weekend tour, gave several concerts in neighboring cities, and also presented a program at Bluffton College. During May Day weekend the men climaxed a rewarding year singing for the coronation ceremonies and participating in the presentation of Handel's oratorio Solomon along with Chapel Choir and Women's Chorus.

. . . harmonies drift across campus Monday through Wednesday afternoon as the WOMEN'S CHORUS rehearses under the direction of Mr. Richard C. Johnston.

The chorus appeared in concert at the Neil House meeting of the Kiwanis Club as well as at the Christmas Concert at Veterans Memorial Hall. A fitting climax came in their participation of the oratorio, Solomon.

The ensemble, composed of twenty girls from the chorus, appeared at a tea given at the governor's mansion.

Greeting the challenge of musical perfection, the chorus forges ahead to attain such heights of performance.

...the cheers for victory, the MARCHING BAND once again strikes up the familiar strains of "Pride of the Purple." These sixty musicians piped away keeping spirits high at every home football game, the all-important game at Otterbein as well as at all of the pep rallies.

Under the direction of Mr. Joseph Colaluca and Dr. Stephen Clarke the band attained a new zenith in performance and perfection. The third annual High School Band Day on October 4 proved highly successful as eight high school bands participated in a morning clinic and the halftime show at the Hiram-Capital football game, honoring John Philip Sousa.

Football fans will long remember such distinctive formations as the mambo doll, the shrinking dollar on Dad's Day, the block "C" swallowing Marietta's "M" at homecoming, and the script "Cap" as examples of the band's fine showmanship.

As the band's satellite was placed in orbit, ever new and novel formations were presented to thrill enthusiastic fans.

Three times a week band members met in the new instrumental rehearsal room in Bexley Hall and were admonished, "One, two, three, four. One, two — No! Are you sleeping? Let's try it again... That's much better."

Weekend tours are always a treat and the group enjoyed two in various parts of Ohio, appearing a trifle heavy eyed at eight o'clock classes the following Monday morning. Highlights were Mr. Nick Perrini's performance of a horn concerto and the new clarinet choir directed by Mr. David Hite. Mr. Joseph Colaluca was featured soloist in La Virgin de Macarena at the June first concert.

...under the direction of Mr. Wilbur Crist, the ORCHESTRA enjoyed the experience of sight-reading various great orchestral works, providing an excellent opportunity for musical development.

Although the weather was cool, the orchestra welcomed Governor DiSalle warmly at his inauguration. The winter concert, January 14, was extremely well received. Gene Barban was piano soloist playing Rachmaninoff's Second Concerto and Earl North rendered a skillful performance of Mozart's Bassoon Concerto.

Spring meant rehearsal for the annual operetta. The sneak preview at the variety show on May Day promised that Song of Norway, was a "must" to see. With the last strains of the baccalaureate recessional, the orchestra closed the year.

...is an important phase of every cadet's life in the AIR FORCE RESERVE OFFICER'S TRAINING CORPS. Social living, serious learning, and service loyalty are all integral parts of the program.

The primary objective of the Air Force ROTC program is to select and prepare students to serve as officers while pursuing any academic major. The cadet learns from experience as well as books as he develops pride in his personal appearance and strives to acquire military bearing. Through a system of merits and demerits he learns the importance of courtesy. The flight training program for advanced students permits them to acquire a private pilot's license as well as to gain valuable military experience.

Variety is added by the honorary women Cadets who appear with the Corps. A special group, the Air Command Squadron, offers many social activities to cadets such as the Military Ball.

The Drill Team represents Capital at various functions and intercollegiate competitions. This year's team, after suffering many initial setbacks, rebounded under new leadership to become the third ranking team in the state at the annual Dayton Invitational Drill Meet.

Through their hard work and concentrated effort, this is indeed a group which prepares itself for the future and whatever it may hold. In this age of speed, they learn to use available supersonic equipment as they put forth their effort to preserve the peace that exists rather precariously.

. . . across the green for a birdie, is just one of the scenes common to the GOLF team.

Taking advantage of the early spring weather, this hardy group dusted off their 9-irons and began frequenting the driving range and the fairways of the golf course. Intercallegiate meets were then arranged among the various colleges in the Ohio Conference.

"Fore . . ." and the match has begun. Outwitting the sandtraps, the golf team drives from one green to another. Skill and an accuracy of eye are imperative as one moves from one fairway to another.

rewarding . . .

...excellence in varsity intercollegiate sports comes in the form of a Capital "C". All those men so rewarded have banded together to form VARSITY C. Only those who have earned a letter in a varsity sport are eligible to belong to this very exclusive group.

Reviewing records of excellence in the various sports serves to inspire aspiring athletes. The familiar cry of "hot dogs... popcorn... coffee..." at each football game serves as a reminder of Varsity C members at work. Bringing Bob Feller to campus for the all-sports banquet highlighted a year filled with activity.

Encouraging those with physical prowess to maintain the peak of performance is the manner in which Varsity C preserves the importance of athletics throughout the years to come.

encouraging . . .

. . . women students to participate in sports activities is the purpose of the WOMEN'S RECREATION ASSOCIATION. Competition reigns high as aspirants vie for desirable team positions.

Instruction begins in each sport before actual competition begins for varsity teams. The opportunity for participation is offered in field hockey, tennis, archery, basketball, volleyball, and softball. The honor of being placed upon a varsity team for intercollegiate competition is highly prized.

Queen Deanna Hawkins and her maid of honor, Claire Lauffer, reigned over a week-end filled with festivities. Famous seamen such as Blackbeard and the Vikings came alive during the parade. Touring the campus, "Little Toot" and the "Half-Moon" were among the famous ships which were presented to visitors.

... over the festivities of Moy Day, 1959, were Miss Marilyn Loy, queen, and her maid of honor, Miss Carol Farris. Travelling "South of the Border" on this sunny week-end in May, one was privileged to visit a shady hacienda or enjoy a lazy siesta. Bernlohr Stadium was the scene of the coronation ceremonies where the pages and flower girl stole the show. This time out from the hectic pace of the world around us was a real pleasure.

The Händel Festival was highlighted by the presentation of the oratorio Salomon. Directed by Mr. Charles Farn-

...The count-down is beginning. The time has come to begin preparing for that final blast into space and the unknown. A sufficient amount of time is still available to make necessary changes. Not knowing where difficulties may arise, it is assumed that all of the equipment will stand the test of the challenge of space. Only with more time will any formidable obstacles be manifested.

... After smoothing out initial difficulties, rapid progression is made toward the zero hour. Learning of the many complexities of a successful flight into the future, sober deliberation is given to the real challenge beyond the proving ground. ... Final preparations are hurriedly brought to a close as the final check is made for departure from the proving ground. Instruments recording take-off are verified to assure accuracy. Inventory is taken to insure that the complex apparatus required for flight is in working order. Just one more moment of preparation is available to fit the blasting device to meet the challenge beyond the proving ground. The blast-off is anxiously anticipated as the seconds hurriedly rush past.

... O ... Blast-off! catapulting into space, the unknown must be faced intelligently by utilizing all of the knowledge which has been gained during the count-down. Whether attempting to solve the mysteries of the galaxies or exploring the depths of the human soul, Christian conscientiousness is necessary. Putting the world into an orbit which is a little happier and a bit more peaceful will be the reward for this concentrated effort. The success which is enjoyed in this launching attempt reveals the perfection attained in the count-down.

Often in this "atomic age" society fails to honor those who have dedicated their lives as the scholars of God. The Church is thankful that God has given her men such as the faculty of our seminary to instruct and direct ministers toward an effective life in His service. The men of the faculty are more than professors; they are truly devout servants of the Lord.

seminary association

The Seminary Association enjoyed a very full and enjoyable year. The monthly meetings were complemented by some very noted speakers. Rev. Rabert Graetz spoke on aspects of integration in the church; Dr. Dale Lechleitner on the Package Mission program; and Mr. S. Patterson on alcoholism. Three meetings were scheduled away from the seminary campus. One was a visit to a Jewish temple and the other two were recreational - devotional outings. The traditional Christmas Banquet was highlighted with the "First Christmas in the Parsonage" by Dr. Harold L. Yochum, followed by the annual Vesper Service. Another opportunity for fellowship was provided for the seminary by the "Married Sems" group. New friendships were formed and several hours of relaxation and refreshment were enjoyed each month. The Seminary Wives' weekly meetings have done much to increase a wholesome atmosphere for seminary life as they too participate in the process of learning through which their husbands are going.

Seminary Wives' Variety Show

Director: Jack McCollister

The Seminary Chorus' activity during the past year covered a three-state area, and followed the pattern of making new friends, congregationally, and visiting old ones. Among congregations far which the Chorus presented its Service for the first time were Zion of Lima, O., St. John, Dola, O., Zion of Luckey, O., Zion, Ann Arbor, Mich., and St. John, Northside, Pittsburgh, Pa. They also participated in the extended dedicatory programs in three beautiful sanctuaries: Zion, Ann Arbor, Mich., Hope Church, Fostoria, O., and Zion, Loudonville, O.

A special feature of next year's operation will be the participation with the choirs of Wartburg and Luther seminaries in the constituting convention of TALC. This will mean a week's tour and three days in Minneapolis in late April. Arrangements have already been made for the Chorus to sing along the route at a number of our distant congregations.

PROGRESS THROUGH COOPERATION

Standout

Do you feel "just like one of the crowd"?

You are — to an outside church publisher.

But to your own official publishing house you are a special standout.

Likeminded people, who share your heritage, create specific lessons for every phase of your program of Christian education.

Materials made for you make a world of difference....

They make you a standout teacher!
